THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN WONDERS of AMERICA.—This renowned Troupe of Artists of AMERICAN and EUROPEAN celebrity have just arrived in Bombay and are erecting their MAMMOTH PAVILION on the Esplanade.

Although Bombay has been visited lately by two talented Equestrian Companies, The Rocky Mountain Wonders feel confident that their talent, which they will produce before the Public, will excel anything heretofore seen in India.

This talented Company have had the honour to appear by SPECIAL COMMAND before all the CROWNED HEADS of EUROPE, which has fired upon them the title of Royal Artists. These Artists made their first appearance in London in 1859 at the Royal Alhambra Circus under the directions of Messrs Howes and Cushing. In 1860 they appeared in Paris at the Theatre De'is Gate where they created a perfect furor in the Theatrical World. They appeared again in London the latter end of 1860 and the commencement of 1861 at Her Majesty's Theatre, Drury Lane Theatre, The Royal Alhambra Palace, and Ashley's Royal Amphitheatre, then under the directions of Mr. E. T. Smith. In the Winter of 1863 they appeared by special command at Windsor Castle before Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria and the Royal Family under the management of Mr. Phelps, and has the honor of selecting all entertainments for Her Majesty. Again in 1863 they appeared at the Royal Opera House in Berlin and at Wien Theatre in Vienna. In 1864 they accepted of an engagement of three years from His Imperial Majesty Alexander II, Emperor of Russia, who was then on a visit to Germany.

These Artists bring to India all the new and novel performances of the day, and hope to meet with the same support which has crowned their success in Europe and America.

Due Notice will be given for their OPENING in Bombay.

JOHN E. FISHER,
JOHN CHAPMAN, } Directors.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Diseases of the Skin.—No case of disease of the skin, be its nature what it may, has failed to be benifitted when these potent remedies have been properly applied. In scrofulous and scorbutic affections they are especially serviceable. Surrey sore eruptions which had resisted all other modes of treatment and gradually become worse from year to year have been completely cured by Holloway's cooling Ointment and purifying Pills, which root out the disease from the blood itself, and leave the constitution free from every morbid taint. In the nursery Holloway's Ointment should be ever at hand it will give ease in sprains, contusions, burns, scalds and infantile eruptions, and may always be safely applied by any ordinary attendant.

NOTICE.—His Excellency the GOVERNOR will hold a DURBAR at GOVERNMENT HOUSE, Parell, THIS AFTERNOON, at 4.30 o'clock, for the purpose of presenting the Insignia of the Most Exalted Order of the STAR OF INDIA to His Highness the THAKOOR of BHOWNUGGUR.

His Excellency will be happy to see any Officers of Her Majesty's Civil, Military, and Naval Services, Justices of the Peace, and Fellows of the University, who may wish to attend the Durbar.

GODFREY CLERK, Major,
Parell, 20th February 1867. Military Secretary.

The Bombay Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1867.

To live under the Government of Bombay, and under the teachings of the Times of India, is one of those privileges enjoyed by too few mortals, and one for which, we ourselves, having no interest in a Cotton Frauds Act save a merely public interest, are not perhaps duly grateful. The Act was a great experiment and it has long since proved itself to be a costly failure. False in principle, that principle on which it was founded, and which for the time gratified the ostentatious morality of a few members of the Legislative Council, could not in the mere possibility of things be applied to any other department of trade without bringing the whole commerce of the Presidency to a dead stand. As was shewn a year ago by the operations of a zealously enthusiastic Cotton Sub-Inspector in Kattywar, who laboured under the delusion that the Act was really an Act of Government to be duly administered and not a mere pretence of an Act not to be administered at all, the Act cannot even be worked in its own legitimate sphere without bringing to an entire termination the whole cotton trade of Western India. In the case referred to, the Chamber of Commerce, finding that no cotton from Guzerat was coming forward, was driven to the extremity of addressing Government, and Government, on enquiring into the matter, was driven to the extremity of rebuking the official, whose fault consisted in believing that it was possible to work the Act, and in attempting faithfully to set it in operation. That single energetic official, in setting the Act honestly and thoroughly in motion, stopped half the cotton trade of the Presidency. Accordingly the Executive had to undo the wise conclusions of the Legislative Department of Government, and the Cotton Frauds Act therefore only subsists on the Statute Book by the stagnation of its own machinery. We challenge Government or the Inspector-in-Chief to put the Act in force. We even defy our contemporary, the Times of India, who is responsible for more phantasies in connection with Indian administration than any other journal in India, to advocate the honest enforcement of the provisions of the Act. These provisions dare not, emasculated and feeble as they are, be put in force, and the Act is a stronger proof of the amiability of Sir Bartle Frere's Government than of its wisdom.

Had there been no means provided by the Penal Code for punishing cheating or fraud, it would have been the duty of Government to have armed the mercantile community of Bombay with the right of bringing fraudulent adulterators of cotton, who were attempting to swindle them, to justice. But there was plenty of law already provided for the punishment of fraud without the superfluous penal clauses of an inoperative Cotton Frauds Act. And, thanks to the amateur experience of law-making possessed by the gentlemen who imposed the Act on the commercial public, and whose vision, like that of Esop's fly, was limited to a very narrow horizon, the penal clauses are so defective that they do not strike at some of the worst and more delicate forms of adulteration, such as mixing good and bad qualities of the same variety of cotton. The Act is, therefore, nothing else but a mere legislative scarecrow set up to frighten ryots and Banyans into honesty, and it fails signally even as a scarecrow. The ryots and Banyans have discovered that it is actually a scarecrow, all but perfectly harmless, however imposing in appearance; for not only are the number of convictions under it ridiculously small, and entirely out of proportion to the acknowledged extent of the evil, but it is a matter almost of utter impossibility to obtain a conviction under the Act. It is essential, according to some of the decisions, to see the offence of fraudulent mixing actually committed or to prove the intention of the mixer to have been a fraudulent intention. The Act broke down under the weight of this legal necessity, and instead of the officials frankly acknowledging the failure of the Act as the Chamber of Commerce did a couple of years ago, in a formal resolution, Mr. Bulkley, at the time the acting Chief Inspector of Cotton, proposed the introduction of a degrading system of secret espionage opposed to all the ordinary principles of working British law. Sir Bartle Frere's Government was fortunately not lost to all sense of high-mindedness, and it recoiled from the degradation of hiring spies and rewarding professional informers. But Government shrinks from the humiliation of sweeping the Act away, and probably also from the reasonable dread that the cancelling of the Act might be interpreted by Banyans and ryots into a free and unrestricted permission to adulterate cotton to their hearts content. Meanwhile the main effect of the Act is the levying of black-mail upon every bale of cotton that leaves the Presidency. The accounts show that the sum of three annas a bale is far in excess of what is necessary, and we should like to know what has become of the annual balance. The surplus on 31st December 1864 was Rs. 1,13,040, and on 31st December 1865 Rs. 70,213, or nearly two lacs of rupees. Is the common rumour true that that surplus has been used by Government for the improvement of cotton cultivation in the Presidency? Some cognizance is given to this rumour by the fact that the only sum allowed by the Government of India for improving the cultivation of cotton is a paltry sum of Rs. 1,500 per month paid to Dr. Forbes, and by a further rumour that the Hon'ble Mr. Hunter has been asked to introduce a Bill into the Legislative Council legalising the application of any surplus under the Cotton Frauds Act to the improvement of the staple. Rumour also asserts that this measure will have a retrospective effect. Now, the principle is a bad one by which a tax is levied for one purpose and diverted to another, and it is unfair that the exporter of cotton, should not only be mulcted in a tax to be employed for the benefit of the grower, but afterwards have to pay an enhanced price for future supplies of the article on account of the improvement effected with his own money. If exporters of piece goods at home were to be taxed six-pence a bale for the purpose of improving the machinery of the Lancashire manufacturers, the case would be precisely analogous, but in England Parliament would not commit so stupendous an ingenuity. We hope, therefore, the Government of Bombay will pause before enacting an absurdity which will make its proceedings conspicuous even among provincial legislatures.

It is absurd to counsel, as our daily contemporary does in his article of Monday, the continuance and amendment of the Act, and at the same time to counsel the merchants to do that which the Act was framed to do for them. The one or the other is unnecessary. If the Act is effective even to the full measure of the economic wisdom of the Times of India, the merchants have nothing more to do than to buy their particular variety of cotton, and to leave Government to see that they really get the article they have bought. If, on the other hand, the merchant attends to his own business, then the Act is totally superfluous. It is admitted by our contemporary that the Act exists by the facilities for frauds offered by European firms and banks, by their greedy "anxiety to do business" which has urged them to advance £10 per bale on cotton not worth £4, £5, or £6, and, in short, by the neglect of common prudence and ordinary business principles on the part of our mercantile men. Surely the cure for this is not that Government should do the work of the merchants and bankers under the guise of a Cotton Frauds Act, but that men who will not look after their own interests should be allowed to suffer the consequences. If the principle of the Cotton Frauds Act be a sound one, why does Government not pass a Wool Frauds Act also, (not to speak of many others), since there is infinitely more adulteration of wool than there has ever been of cotton? The instant merchants and banks do their own work, and take the most ordinary precautions against being

In the last number of the Field there is an account of the bear of this country. The writer describes the animal so common in the jungles of Chota Nagpore and Bancoorah in Bengal. Next to the tiger the bear is the most formidable beast in the jungles of Central India. He digs for roots, feeding on ants, and accounts nothing daintier than honey: he is a solitary retiring beast, using his immense strength against man only in self-defence. When he endeavours to foil his assailant by a blow on the head, and when he has been prostrate, he makes his attack first upon the eyes. I know a tea-planter in the hills who told me he had a narrow escape from one of these brutes. He was walking in his garden, when he received a sudden blow on the back of his head which felled him, and had it not been for some workpeople who came to the rescue, when the bear made off, he might have received serious injury. He has, however, the marks of the claws on his head yet.

JAMES TAYLOR, N. J. SUNKERSETT, } Hon. Secretaries.

Bombay, 19th February 1867.

THE AHMEDABAD ADDRESS TO SIR BARTLE FRERE.

A NUMBER of the principal inhabitants of Ahmedabad met at the residence of Sheth Premabhai Heemabhai on the evening of the 7th instant, to consider the question of presenting an address to His Excellency Sir H. B. E. Frere, previous to his leaving India, when it was unanimously resolved that an address, which was then read and explained in Guzerati by Mr. Kikabhai Hurmanyen, should be sent to Sheth Premabhai Heemabhai at Bombay for presentation to His Excellency.

The following is the address:—

To His Excellency the Honourable Sir H. B. E. FRERE, G. C. S. I. and K. C. B., Governor of Bombay.

YOUR EXCELLENCY,—We, the undersigned inhabitants of Ahmedabad, most respectfully beg to present through our worthy Nagger Sheth, Premanund Heemanund, this address to your Excellency, and hope that you will kindly accept it as an expression of our heartfelt gratitude.

We had the pleasure of seeing your Excellency at this place at the commencement of 1864, and the kind treatment which you were then good enough to vouchsafe to us is quite fresh in our memory. We anxiously expected to see your Excellency once more at this place before your departure from India so as to give us an opportunity of expressing our feelings in person, but as we have been disappointed in that respect we beg to convey an expression of our gratitude to your Excellency by means of this address.

Those who are more closely acquainted with your Excellency than ourselves have already and publicly expressed their admiration of your Excellency's splendid and illustrious career during the long period of thirty-three years in India, both as a public officer and a private gentleman. We therefore consider it superfluous to occupy your Excellency's most valuable time by repeating the same. We beg, however, to say that we consider that your Excellency has proved yourself to be the best friend and patron of the natives of this country; and you have done your best to improve their condition and position. Your Excellency, who rose in India from the post of a junior Covenanted Civil Servant to that of the Governor of the Presidency, had had ample opportunities of becoming thoroughly acquainted with the manners, customs, feelings, and wants of the natives. Useful public works, education, and admission of deserving natives to a share in the administration of affairs are the greatest wants of India, and they have occupied a large portion of your Excellency's attention. The beneficial results of the measures which you have directed and partly carried out have indelibly engraved your Excellency's name on the hearts of the people.

In conclusion we heartily wish long life and happiness to your Excellency. It is our fervent wish and prayer that your Excellency may once more return to this country as Her Majesty's Viceroy in India.

We beg to remain your Excellency's most obedient and grateful servants,

THE BOMBAY SCOTTISH ORPHANAGE.

The annual public meeting of the friends and supporters of the Bombay Scottish Orphanage was held on Monday afternoon in the Free Church, Esplanade. We were glad to see a good attendance on this interesting occasion.

The Hon'ble A. J. Hunter occupied the chair.

The meeting having been opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Cameron, the Chairman called upon the honorary secretary to read the report of the Committee for the past year.

Mr. F. A. Spencer thereupon read the report, which gave in detail the progress made by the Society during the year. It showed that considerable improvements and additions had been made to the Orphanage buildings during the period under report, and bore well deserved testimony to the highly efficient manner in which the school was superintended by Mr. Duthie. We were sorry to hear that the funds of this excellent charity are not in so flourishing a condition as could be desired, and that the building fund had to be drawn upon to the extent of several thousand rupees to meet the current expenditure.

The report having been read, it was proposed by the Rev. Dr. Wilson and seconded by Colonel Ewen Grant,—"That the report which has been read be adopted and printed as the report of the Bombay Scottish Orphanage for the year 1866."

Mr. John Smith then proposed in a neat and business-like speech,—"That the subscribers to the Bombay Scottish Orphanage do hereby form themselves into a society under the following constitution and regulation." [Here followed the rules and regulations.]

Mr. John Macfarlane seconded the resolution, when some little discussion took place thereon. After which, a few verbal alterations having been made, the constitution and rules were agreed to unanimously.

The Rev. D. C. Boyd next proposed and the Rev. D. Macpherson seconded the next resolution,—"That the following ladies and gentlemen form the Ladies' Committee and the Committee of Management of the Orphanage for the current year:"—Colonel Ewen Grant, Chairman; A. Brown, Esq., Deputy Chairman; Walter Ewing Crum, Esq., Honorary Treasurer to the Building Fund; F. A. Spencer, Esq., Honorary Secretary; A. Johnstone, Esq., Auditor; Members:—F.S. Arnott, Esq., C. B.; Rev. D. C. Boyd; W. E. Crum, Esq.; F. A. Spencer, Esq.; A. Johnstone, Esq.; John Connon, Esq.; Captain Davidson, R. E.; the Hon. A. J. Hunter; C. M. McDonald, Esq.; J. Macfarlane, Esq.; Rev. D. Macpherson; A. Morrison, Esq.; W. Nicol, Esq.; J. G. Nicolson, Esq. M. D.; Rev. J. Paton; James Ranken, Esq.; D. Roberston, Esq.; M. H. Scott, Esq.; N. Spencer, (Senr.) Esq.; A. Stewart, Esq.; Rev. R. Stothert; John Smith, Esq.; G. R. Wilson, Esq.

Ladies' Committee:—Mrs. Wilson, Convener; Mrs. Cameron; Mrs. Douglas; Mrs. Grant; Mrs. Hunter; Mrs. Johnstone; Mrs. Macfarlane; Mrs. Morris; Mrs. Paton; Mrs. Robertson; Mrs. Rodgie; Mrs. Showell; Mrs. Spencer; Mrs. Stewart; Mrs. G. R. Wilson.

Poona Sub-Committee:—Rev. R. Angus; W. F. Hunter, Esq.; Rev. M. M. Ross; W. Wellis, Esq.; A. Wright, Esq., M. D.

Kurrachee Sub Committee:—Major Beville; J. Grant, Esq.; W. G. Hall, Esq.; E. Leggett, Esq., D. C. McNeil, Esq.; Rev. W. Middleton; Lieutenant John Scott.

Before the resolution was put from the chair, the Rev. Mr. Macpherson urged on the supporters of the institution the necessity of their making renewed efforts to obtain more funds.

The resolution was then carried.

It was next proposed by W. E. Crum, Esq., seconded by James Macnee, Esq., and carried unanimously,—"That the thanks of the meeting be given to the Chairman, honorary secretary, honorary treasurer and the other members of the retiring committee, also to the medical officers who have kindly visited the Orphanage, and to the auditor of accounts for the past year."

Captain Davidson proposed, Mr. N. Spencer seconded, and it was carried unanimously,—"That John Smith, Esq., Rev. D. C. Boyd, Rev. D. Macpherson, and F. A. Spencer, Esq., be elected trustees of the Orphanage."

The Benediction having been pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Stothert, the meeting separated.

TREACHER AND COMPANY (LIMITED).

THE third annual ordinary general meeting of this Company was held on their premises, 24, Rampart Row, on Saturday last, the 16th inst. J. R. Beardmore, Esq., in the chair.

The Chairman thought the shareholders would like to hear a few remarks, independent of the report which had been in circulation for over a week, and there was no doubt that every shareholder present was familiar both with it and the balance sheet accompanying the same, but before putting it to the meeting for acceptance, he would add a few details on the Company's position and prospects. He considered one of the principal items in the accounts was the large aggregate amount of outstandings owing to the Company, but it was satisfactory to know that the amount deducted, namely 30 per cent., nearly covered the estimated bad and doubtful debts now in the books as shown in the report, and he would here remark that the manager (Mr. Colclough), has thoroughly gone through the whole of the accounts (some 8,000 in number), since October last, and that this has been the cause of the delay in issuing the report, and in calling the annual meeting. As many of the accounts extended back so many years and of which a great number are unquestionably irrecoverable, it is therefore proposed that during the current year, all such shall be erased, and the remainder placed under separate headings, viz:—good and doubtful. He considered that the great drawback to retail trade in this country is the mistaken principle of allowing long credit, thus rendering necessary a higher profit on the cost; but the present manager is endeavouring to introduce a liberal discount system offering great advantages for prompt payment, as may be seen from notices and the advertisements, and of which many are daily availing themselves thus further. The extent of profits might now being allowed as heretofore, and new accounts for up country orders, &c., are not being opened without satisfactory Bombay reference, which, from experience, has been found necessary. It is intended to press in all the old debts, and it is hoped that by the end of the year the outstandings will be greatly diminished, so that the precautions now taken will limit the book debts and induce a healthier state into the same. He (the Chairman) thought it a subject of congratulation that the Company's position is now better than it ever was before; they had not suffered materially from the effects of the crisis, and from the careful management had not lost a rupee or locked one up in their banking operations during the three years. Of course the stagnation of trade throughout the Presidency affected their returns, and hence their diminished profits as compared with 1864-5, but with the precautions taken during the year—which doubtless limited the business—the returns for the year are considerably over the first, and a very great improvement is perceptable in the daily cash sales and in the cash receipts generally, as might be seen by reference to the details upon the table. With these few observations and offering any further explanation shareholders present might require, he would beg to propose the acceptance and adoption of the report and accounts.

The following resolutions were proposed and carried unanimously:—

Proposed by Mr. Clarence and seconded by Mr. Proud,—"That the report and accounts read for the twelve months ending 30th September 1866 be received and adopted."

Proposed by Mr. Beardmore and seconded by Mr. Jessop,—"That a dividend at the rate of six per cent. per annum for six months on the paid up capital of Rs. 9,95,000 be declared and paid out of the profit of the year ending 30th Sept. 1866."

Proposed by Mr. Firth and seconded by Mr. Muswanjee Sorabjee,—"That a bonus as heretofore be given to the Company's servants of half a month's salary."

Proposed by Mr. Malins and seconded by Mr. Beardmore,—"That the balance of profits, viz., Rs. 6,181 6-7 be carried to the general reserve fund."

Proposed by Mr. Beardmore and seconded by Mr. Macnee,—"That Mr. John Firth be elected a director."

Proposed by Mr. Proud and seconded by Mr. Colclough,—"That Mr. John Gray be elected a director."

Proposed by Mr. Beardmore and seconded by Mr. Dinshaw Nusserwanjee,—"That Mr. F. A. Spencer be elected a director."

Proposed by Mr. Jessop and seconded by Mr. Malins,—"That Messrs. John Beattie and Samuel Read be re elected auditors for the present year."

Proposed by Mr. Allan and seconded by Mr. Beardmore,—"That the ground rent, namely, the late firm of Messrs. John Treacher and Company, having made good their guarantee of six per cent. per annum profit on the capital for the first three years of the Company's working, their securities be now surrendered to them.

Proposed by Mr. Firth and seconded by Mr. Beardmore,—"That a vote of thanks be given to the late firm of Messrs. John Treacher and Company,—namely, the three managers John Treacher, William Colclough and Jewanjee Hormusjee Guzdar, Esqs., for their successful management, and the satisfactory manner in which they have concluded their agreement."

The usual vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the proceedings.

CULPABLE HOMICIDE.

IT will be recollected that the acting Chief Magistrate took the dying deposition of George Chedalli, a seaman of the ship Sarah Newman, who was stabbed on the 19th December last at the Apollo Bunder by a shipmate named Frank Joseph, an Italian. Chedalli was removed to hospital about half past 7 P. M. on the same day, suffering from a punctured wound in the chest which had injured the lung. Up to the 26th December last he progressed favourably, and was then taken suddenly ill having a severe pain in the injured side, the symptoms being those of pleurisy. On the 6th inst. it was found necessary to tap his chest, and from that date he gradually sank, and died on Monday last. An inquest was held on his body late on that day at the European General Hospital, when several witnesses were examined.

James Savage said: I am a sailor and live at the Sailors' Home. The deceased was a shipmate of mine on board the ship Sarah Newman. On the morning of the 19th December last, between 9 and 10 o'clock, I, in company with the deceased and two other sailors belonging to my ship, by name Frank Jute and Frank Joseph, left the ship to come on shore. We passed the day in the bazaar and bought various articles at different shops, at one of which Frank Joseph bought a sheath knife, which looked like the one now produced. About 7 o'clock in the evening we left the bazar to go on board the ship. Frank Joseph was not at this time drunk, but had been drinking. Chedalli was drunk and was staggering as he walked, and Frank Jute supported him. When we reached the top of the Apollo Bunder, nearly opposite the entrance to the Fort Police Court, the deceased saw a looking-glass in Frank Joseph's hand, which he (deceased) claimed to be his. Joseph said it belonged to him. On this Chedalli asked Joseph to fight with him, Joseph replied that he wished to go on board. Chedalli again asked him to fight, and then Joseph again told him to go away, also saying "let us go on board and keep quiet." Chedalli again asked him a third time to fight, and then the two men began to fight. I tried to part them, when suddenly Joseph stepped back; and I saw a knife like the one produced in his hand. At the same time I heard Chedalli say "Oh Frank, he has struck me with a knife." On hearing this, I called out for the police, and I followed Frank Joseph, who had run off. On my way I met a policeman and showed him the way Frank Joseph had gone. When I came back to Chedalli I was lying on the road, and was removed by the police to the European General Hospital.

Mr. William Woodsaid: I am a constable of the Bombay police and to duty on the Apollo Bunder. About 7 P. M. on the 19th December 1866, I was sitting in the sergeant's house at the head of Apollo Bunder, when suddenly I heard some one in the road call out for a policeman. I ran out, and in the road opposite the house I was in I met the last witness, Savage, who said "one of my shipmates has been stabbed by an Italian." I asked him where the man who had committed the deed was. He told me he had run on the Bunder. I went down and searched all over the Bunder with Savage, but failed to discover any one. After learning that he had not escaped either from the Bunder or by the road, I searched the land that was in process of reclamation between the Bunder and the dockyard, and in a hollow place I found a European lying down, pretending to be asleep. I arrested him and searched him. I found no knife or weapon of any kind upon him. On my arresting him, he said he is a d—— liar." He did not specify who he meant. I took him to where the deceased was lying. Mr. Lockley was standing at this spot, and by his orders I conveyed the man I found lying down, by name Frank Joseph, to the Fort Police chowkey. The deceased, in my presence, recognised Frank Joseph as the man who had stabbed him.

Mr. James Lockley said: I am a superintendent of police in charge of A division. On the night of the 19th December 1866, about 7 o'clock, in consequence of information I received, I went down to the Apollo Bunder, and there saw the deceased lying on his back with his head resting on a pillow in company with Savage. I knelt down and asked the deceased what was the matter. He replied "I have been stabbed." As I was speaking Constable Wood brought Frank Joseph up. I cleared the way and confronted Frank Joseph with the deceased. I then asked the deceased if he know the man in front of him. He replied "yes, that is the man who stabbed me." I ordered Frank Joseph to the chowkey, and conveyed the deceased to this hospital. He was bleeding profusely from a wound in the left side, and was perfectly conscious. He appeared as if he had been drinking. I ordered a search to be made in the vicinity for the knife.

Dr. Sincanam Arjoon, officiating surgeon to the Coroner, who had made a post mortem examination, described the morbid appearances in the body, and was of opinion that they might be produced after the infliction of a wound into the lung through the walls of the chest by a sharp cutting instrument. Dr. Dymock, Assistant Surgeon European General Hospital, was also examined; and the inquest was then postponed until Monday the 25th inst.

MR. AND MRS. SASSOON'S BALL IN HONOUR OF H.E. THE GOVERNOR AND LADY FRERE.

SIR BARTLE FRERE will carry with him to the West many pleasant memories when he leaves Bombay. All classes of the community have vied with each other in doing him honour, public meetings have been followed by balls and banquets, and eloquence has been succeeded by calisthenics. Conspicuous amongst the entertainments which have been given will shine the one to which Mr. and Mrs. Sassoon invited their friends to meet His Excellency on Monday evening. We need scarcely mention that Mr. Abdoola D. Sassoon is the eldest son of the late Mr. David Sassoon, a gentleman to whose discriminating benevolence not only Bombay but Western India is so deeply indebted. Several of the most useful institutions of our island owe their existence to his philanthropy. He erected and endowed schools, founded hospitals, and established asylums for those who might be destitute of the means by which many of the miseries of mankind may be mitigated. The lineal descendants of one of the first families of the favoured people, the Sassoons, upon their arrival in Bombay, soon rose to eminence. Their enterprize extended from England to Japan. In Persia and in Arabia, in India and in China, their names were known in the highest circles of commerce. Their business operations were rarely if ever speculative, and when the founder of the house, the late Mr. David Sassoon, departed from amongst us full of years and honours, his loss may be said to have been universally lamented. For years he had been regarded as one of the leading philanthropists of the East, and his name was associated with every enterprize which had for its object the promotion of the imperial weal. His genial disposition, patriarchal port, and courteous bearing had for a long time not only rendered him popular but beloved. Generous by nature and discriminating by experience he applied his wealth to the most useful purposes, and had the satisfaction before he died of seeing several of the institutions which he had planted bearing most excellent fruit. Fortunately for Western India his estates devolved upon a worthy successor in the person of his eldest son, Mr. Abdoola David Sassoon, a gentleman who has walked in his father's footsteps and has had one of the noblest dispositions in India conferred upon him as a mark to show the estimation in which he is held by the British Government. Since the death of Mr. David Sassoon he has extended the reputation of his family and increased the circle of elevated friendships which the philanthropy of his father had secured. Exceedingly well educated and possessing great natural ability, Mr. Abdoola D. Sassoon even during his father's life-time was regarded as one of the leading men of this city. In England, China, and Persia his reputation stood equally high, and his sagacious counsel has more than once stood our representatives in good stead at the courts of Teheran and Pekin. He is not only well versed in all the details of Asiatic commerce, but there are few phases which diplomacy can assume that he cannot at once read and turn to advantage. Wherever he has resided he has been famed for his hospitalities; and when he flashes, in characters of flame, the word "welcome" over his gateways, the invitation is ever most readily responded to by all who are embraced within the circle of his acquaintance. The Sans Souci balls and receptions have at all times held an elevated place in the estimation of society. In fact, that most fastidious of festive critics, the late Lord Elphinstone, pronounced them to be faultless.

Sans Souci, the Bombay residence of Mr. A. D. Sassoon, is admirably adapted for an imperial entertainment, and we do not think that it ever shone to better advantage than it did on Monday evening. The grounds in front of the house were magnificently illuminated, the aid of gas being very extensively employed. The ball-room and reception-rooms, too, were brilliantly lighted up and superbly furnished. In India, before Mr. A. D. Sassoon commenced to give balls and receptions at Sans Souci, colour contrasts and the lustre of innumerable lamps were considered to be the grand elements by which the acme of success could alone be attained. Now, however, an improved civilization has imparted to the people of Western India a new phase of æsthetics. Elegance has exiled extravagance, and taste has displaced thoughtless display. Discord has been dissipated by harmony; the customs of the East have disappeared before the conventionalities of the West; rude music and ribald dances have succumbed to the genius of taste; and the vocalism of the nautch has been exchanged for that of the opera,—wonderful revolutions when one comes to consider that only ten years ago India was on the eve of the most sanguinary struggle which is to be found recorded in the history of either ancient or modern times.

On the arrival of Sir Bartle Frere the festivity fairly commenced. Lady Frere and the Misses Frere joined the dancers, and His Excellency formed the centre of a group of conversationalists ready at any time to settle the affairs of empire or direct to a legitimate end the genius of our rule in the East.

Rarely in India have we seen a ball-room filled with more graceful dancers. Enjoyment never for an instant dagged—the spirit of gaiety sustaining itself to the last. Whatever Bombay may have lost with regard to bullion, there cannot be a doubt entertained respecting the fact that the city has received great accessions in the shape of beauty. The queens of society are more numerous than ever they were, and while men are the subjects of such a dominion their condition is one which requires no reform bill, nor in fact any other description of legislation. It was observed that no one seemed to enjoy the ball more than Sir Bartle Frere. Lady Frere's presence, also, lent a lustre to the whole, and when she left the ball-room a feeling of genuine regret was everywhere visible, heightened no doubt by a consciousness of the fact that the occasions would now be but few upon which her friends would have an opportunity of exchanging little courtesies, trifling doubtless in themselves, but to which the charm of her manner had imparted value. Both Sir Bartle and Lady Frere took their departure with regret. They appeared to be fully sensible of the estimation in which they were held, and we doubt not that the farewell festivity at Sans Souci will ever occupy a green spot in the waste of memory. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sassoon, the host and hostess, discharged the duties which devolved upon them in true English style. They not only extended to all a warm welcome but they made every guest feel that the word was used in no conventional sense. The whole of the members of their family were equally active in their endeavour to make all feel at home, and it reflects no small amount of credit upon them to say that they succeeded to admiration. As the parting-cup is the one which crowns the beatitude of the banquet, so will the entertainment given at Sans Souci on Monday evening be a most fitting finish to the long series of festivities to which Sir Bartle Frere has been invited on the eve of his return to his native land.

The guests seemed to be fully sensible of the efforts which had been made to entertain them in a style suitable to the occasion. On every side we heard the highest encomiums paid to the spirit of hospitality which had been so conspicuously displayed. All were not only pleased but delighted. Everything which taste and wealth could procure had been provided for the entertainment. The supper was superb and the wines delicious; conversation sparkled with wit, and epigrams were circulated as rapidly as the champagne. The Bench and the Bar displayed their customary luminosity, and Sword and Gown were also brilliant. The Civil Service shone conspicuously as usual, and Commerce carried as glittering a crest as if Cotton had never known a collapse. The guests at the ball numbered several hundred, but so admirable were the arrangements that nothing resembling a "crush" was experienced during the whole of the evening. Every one appeared to feel that Mr. Sassoon had achieved a great success, and we have no hesitation in saying that his greatest gratification lay in the consciousness that his friends were present with him to share his triumph.

At the close of the supper Mr. Sassoon rose, and, after asking the company to fill their glasses, said:—Your Excellency, Ladies, and Gentlemen,—I will now ask you to drink with me a toast—"The Health of Her Majesty the Queen"—which needs only to be mentioned in any part of her world-wide dominions to excite feelings of loyal enthusiasm and respectful devotion in the hearts of British subjects. (Cheers.) We in India do not fall behind the people of Great Britain in reverential admiration for the noble personal qualities which have made the name of Queen Victoria sacred to all men who can honour whatever is highest in the character of woman; nor do we acknowledge less heartily than her English-born subjects the countless blessings we enjoy under the protection of her firm yet benign and gentle rule. (Cheers.) Ladies and Gentlemen, I call upon you to drink to the health of the Queen of England and India, Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

The toast was warmly received, and the band struck up "God save the Queen."

Mr. Sassoon then rose and said:—Ladies and Gentlemen,—It is with feelings of peculiar pleasure that I now rise to fulfil the grateful task of proposing to you one more toast—"The Health of His Excellency Sir Bartle and Lady Frere." (Loud Cheers.) Our departing Governor has received within the last three or four weeks, from all sorts and conditions of men, unmistakeable proofs of the estimation in which he is held by the people of the Presidency whom he has governed so long and I may say has loved so well; and I cannot by any words of mine add to the eloquent eulogiums that have been passed on his public character and conduct by the leading men of European and native society in this community. No Governor has ever left the shores of India amidst such general demonstrations of regret; and I am confident of this much, that the tribute we have all so gladly paid to Sir Bartle Frere is not mere lip-service, but the sincere homage of our hearts. (Cheers.) Whatever differences of opinion may exist among us, however numerous may be the sects, parties, and classes into which we are divided, we all unite in recognizing the fearless impartiality, the honesty, and nobleness of purpose, the patient and single-minded devotion to duty, and the statesman-like ability of Sir Bartle Frere. For my part, I feel that in losing him I lose one who was my revered father's most honoured and trusted adviser, and who has been my best and most constant friend. On the part of Mrs. Sassoon and myself, too, I would thank the amiable and accomplished lady who has done us the honour to accompany Sir Bartle on his visit to our house this evening for the unfailing kindness and friendly courtesy which she has extended to us, as to every guest admitted to the delightful social circle at Government House. I pray that long life, increased prosperity, and multiplied honours may be reserved for them in that dear native land to which they are now returning. We in Bombay shall retain enduring recollections of all they have done for us, and shall watch with affectionate interest every incident in their future career; and to me personally it will ever be a source of sincere pride and satisfaction to reflect that this house has been the scene of probably the last farewell entertainment given in Bombay to the most popular Governor who has ever ruled over Western India. (Cheers.) Ladies and Gentlemen, let us drink, with every possible wish for health, long life, and prosperity to Sir Bartle and Lady Frere.

The toast was drunk with great enthusiasm.

Sir Bartle Frere rose and begged leave, on behalf of Lady Frere and himself, to return their most cordial thanks for the manner in which Mr. Sassoon had proposed, and the company received, the toast of their health. There was, to him, one circumstance of a peculiarly pleasurable nature in connection with this evening's meeting. On other occasions of a similar character—whether at Poona, or in Sind—there had been mingled with the feelings of pleasure natural at such times, a deep sense of regret at parting from friends, never more it might be to rejoin them. In this instance, however, there was the happy circumstance that at no distant time he would have the gratification of meeting his hospitable entertainers in England; and although it would not be possible to receive them there in the same style of princely splendour which was witnessed that evening, yet he could assure them that the pleasure he had derived from their society in this country would be many times multiplied when he met them in the West. And he was sure that he was not presuming too far upon the feelings of his fellow-countrymen when he ventured to say that Mr. and Mrs. Sassoon, or any one bearing their name—or indeed any relative of theirs—might count upon receiving a hearty welcome in England, not only from those who had been in Bombay, but from all who were acquainted with the recent history of this city. (Cheers.) He would call upon the company to drink Prosperity to the Sassoon Family!

The toast was drunk with great cheering.

Mr. Sassoon acknowledged the compliment in the following words:—Ladies and Gentlemen,—On behalf of Mrs. Sassoon and myself, I thank you heartily for the kind way in which you have received the toast His Excellency has done us the honour to propose. It is now thirty-three years ago, in the very year in which Sir Bartle Frere began his Indian career, that my father landed in Bombay and established his house in this city, and the immense progress which Western India has made since then is due in no small measure to His Excellency's labours. Ladies and Gentlemen, we have been very happy to see you all here this evening, and I thank you again for your kindness. (Cheers.)

MEETING OF THE BENCH OF JUSTICES.

AN adjourned meeting of the Bench of Justices was held on Monday afternoon in the Durbar Room of the Town Hall, for the purpose of resuming consideration of the Report of the Standing Committee on the Draft Bill to amend Act II. of 1865. Mr. A. R. Scoble occupied the chair.

Three o'clock was the advertised hour of meeting, but at twenty minutes past three only eight Justices were present. It was pointed out, however, by the Chairman, that at an adjourned meeting a quorum was not necessary; and this being so the Justices present proceeded with the business for which the meeting had been called.

The Chairman said that the first three paragraphs of the Report had been disposed of at last meeting, and that the Justices had now to take up the fourth. [The fourth para. runs as follows:—"Sections XI. and XIII. are, the Committee consider, useful alterations of the present law; but, in the view which the Committee take of the principle on which the Municipal taxes shoud be collected, section XII is unnecessary."] With regard to this paragraph the Bench had disagreed with the Committee as to the expediency of collecting the Municipal taxes in advance; and he would therefore move that the para. should be adopted with this alteration,

LEA AND PERRINS'
CELEBRATED
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE,
DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS
TO BE THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.

CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD.

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having induced certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior Compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine, is to and to see that their names are upon the wrapper, labels, stopper, and bottle.

Some of the first Firms in foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their Correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.

Ask for LEA and PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.

Wholesale and for Export by the Proprietors, Worcester; Crosse and Blackwell, London, &c., &c., and by Grocers and Oilmen universally.
